

Living in a grey massive

Tangled complexity of social life and spending a lot of time to solve problems, leave no time to think about our dreams. I was hoping that by combining the images and structures, create an space to show human suspended in my country, Iran. All his efforts to achieve his dream, which is on a collision route with various events and other people can be altered.

They are about virtual space in my mind that made up of the photographic experiences and different view of life and are my experiences of social life and images I kept in my mind of what I have faced through years specially in the field of Gender and Women.

Combining Eastern living experience and despite increasing and external stimulus of the life of the Middle East, images in the form of collage are a single experiment, in order to harmonize the flows of life in the East and the West, to achieve a common language between different cultures.
